

Question 1:

In the PEO, members are appointed by the Lieutenant Governor-in-Council and members are elected by Engineers around Canada.

Question 2:

The CEAB exists to regulate Canada's engineers and to ensure that there is proper that national standards are met by engineers. CIPS is the professional society that exists to accredit various IT programs in Canada.

Question 3:

The Engineer-in-Training is given to those without the year of experience. Professional Engineer can be given to someone from another province.

Question 4:

Computer Scientists do not need the ISP to practice however it shows that a computer scientist follows standards set forth by CIPS.

Sources:

"Information systems professional," in Wikipedia, Wikimedia Foundation, 2012. [Online]. Available: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Information_Systems_Professional. Accessed: Jan. 31, 2017.

. [Online]. Available: http://www.peo.on.ca/index.php/ci_id/21483/la_id/1.htm. Accessed: Jan. 31, 2017.

. [Online]. Available: http://www.peo.on.ca/index.php/ci_id/30361/la_id/1.htm. Accessed: Jan. 31, 2017.